My child is taking part in Growing Up in Australia: The Longitudinal Study of Australian Children, a nationwide study that is following the health and development of thousands of Australian children. The Study is conducted as a partnership between the Department of Social Services, the Australian Institute of Family Studies, and the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS), with advice provided by a consortium of leading researchers.

The Study looks at all aspects of children's lives and information is being gathered from parents, children and teachers. I have consented for my child to be part of the Study. I have given the ABS permission to contact my child's English teacher to collect information about my child's academic skills and competencies, my child's personality and behaviour, and characteristics of my child's school, class and programs.
